EVENING PARADE

XAVIER HIGH SCHOOL

NEW YORK, N. Y.

DE

FOREWORD

THE environs of New Jersey, New York, Long Island, and even distant Connecticut send the blue and khaki clad sons to Sixteenth Street. From over 160 communities throughout the Metropolitan area the cadets percolate in thin, blue streams to the dingy canyons of Manhattan. Daily they endure the spine-jarring jolts of every manner of conveyance in their lengthy travels to Xavier. The following pages will reveal an accurate glance at the long suffering cadets en route. An inkling of the extent to which Xavier is truly Metropolitan is disclosed by the wide assortment of communities.

REV. JOHN W. TYNAN, S.J.
Rector

DEDICATION

Some dreams, like the one of a Skyscraper Xavier, are meant to be realized. When this "New" Xavier is an actuality, then we will understand the greatness of the man who planned and prayed for the Sixteenth Street of the future.

In our two years here with Father Tynan we, the Class of '48, have seen his vision loom large. He has been so much more than "the man who gives holidays." From his priestly zeal we have drawn inspiration; from his generosity and friendliness we have learned much. But most of all, he has taught us loyalty and fidelity, - to our God, our Country and to Xavier. When the Blue Battalions of the next generation are marching through the bright corridors of the "New" Xavier, we shall remember Father Tynan as Xavier's second Founder, the man who "dreamed dreams and saw visions."

JAMES J. WALSH, S.J.

Born February 22, 1926

MEMORIAM

A short life—but so very full! How characteristic was this of Mr. Walsh! In the short time that he was with us, he did much for us, for his class, the track team, and for every student who was privileged to know him. Even after a few short months, everyone knew and admired Mr. Walsh. The tears that flowed down many a manly cheek speak eloquently of our love and esteem for our devoted Jesuit friend. In him we found a model worthy of imitation because he made holiness seem so simple. If we have become finer Catholic gentlemen, if we have come closer to our Divine Model, it is because he so clearly showed us the way. He was too good, too holy to remain long with us. May he remember us before the Wonderful Throne of our God!

SODALITY

Jack Maher, Bob Miller, Jack Kepp, Assistant Prefect Fr. Knoepfel, S.J.,
Jim Dinneen, Prefect, Mr. Fullam, S.J., Jack Buckmeyer

The M. P.'s may come at 11:00 A. M.

The Senior Sodality was sparked to both spiritual and social success by Father Knoepfel and Mr. Fullam, S.J. Jim Dinneen, the Sodality's Prefect and Jack Kepp, his second in command, led by the Executive Committee in planning the year's work. The Vox Mariae with Anthony Witham as editor, John Maher's Career Guidance Committee and Wallace Rooney's Slide Lecture Club featured an eventful year of Sodality Activity.

The Glee Club gives out,

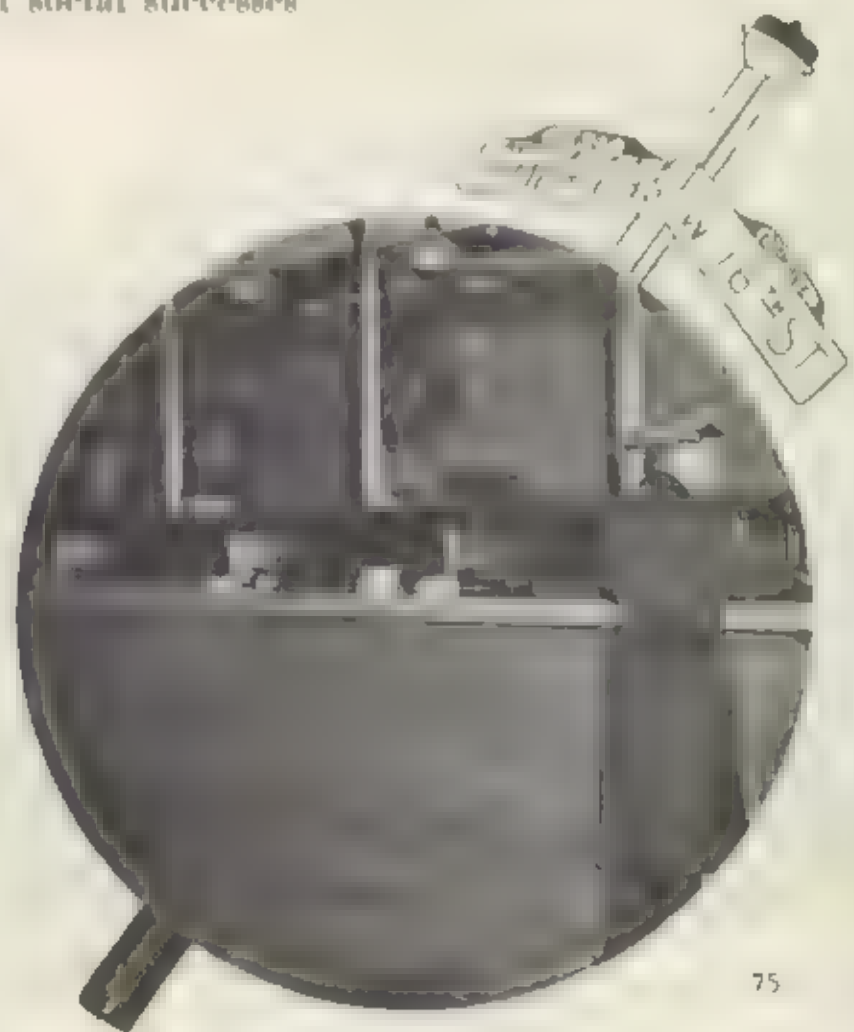

JUNIOR SODALITY

Back Row: Moynihan, Quachy, Reininger, Reilly, Cahill, O'Gorman, Alnady, King

UNDER the guidance of Father Taylor, S.J., the Junior Sodalists became leaders in numerous inspiring activities. Mass Latin was taught to grammar school altar boys by Moynihan and Slevin. Each day during Lent various Sodalists led the recitation of the Rosary in the Students' Chapel. At the weekly meetings Reilly, Simmons, Wallace, and Hand gave talks on the lives of little known Jesuit Saints. The Valentine Dance, with its new and eye-catching decorations, was one of the year's finest social successes.

SODALITY

Matthews, S.J., Moderator

Horton, Walsh, Lavery, Palmer, Howley

DIRECTED by Father Matthews, S.J., the Sophomore Sodality undertook a wide range of activities. Foremost among them was "The Sodalist" an engrossing newspaper of Sodality affairs. Two important programs fostered by the Sodality were instructions in mental prayer and devotion to Our Lady of Fatima. In order to obtain a better understanding between Italy and America a correspondence was initiated between the Sodalists in our country and young Italians. In the weekly meetings and talks given by Sodalists and guest speakers, Sodality rules and devotion to the Blessed Mother were stressed.

FOREMOST among Freshman Sodality activities was their attendance at the Guard of Honor Mass each Wednesday morning. In the annual Philippine Mission Mite Box Drive, Father O'Dwyer's Freshman Sodalists were among the highest contributors. During October a Rosary was said each day in honor of the Blessed Mother. At the regular weekly meetings the Sodalists meditated on the Sunday Gospels and participated in other forms of Mental Prayer.

SEPTEMBER '47 ushered in another easy-reading volume of the Xavier with Mr. Brown, S.J., as moderator, Jim Dinneen, the Editor-in-Chief, and Jack Maher, the Associate Editor, were among those chosen from the veterans to captain the succeeding staff. A new office, conveniently located on the site of the old Labor School, saw many renovations. The Regimentals and the Chronicle were discarded and the clever Book Reviews and full page Sport Illustrations were substituted. More sketches was the persistent cry—and a choice selection of witty stories and essays were scattered profusely through the four issues. The product is, as always, representative of the finest literary talent of 16th Street.

SEPTEMBER of 1947 saw the Review settled comfortably in its spacious quarters on the third floor. At midterm Father Fernandez, S.J., left the paper in the hands of Father Taylor, S.J. With Ben Dineen and Jack Kapp as co-editors the Review appeared in the same fine journalistic style as before. A new record was set in the number of issues for the school year. Each newsy issue is awaited avidly by the entire student body.

THE 1948 Evening Parade gave Xavier the "New Look" in yearbooks. From late September until those dreamy days in May, Mr. McCusker's Editorial Staff crowded in the dingy recesses of the Evening Parade office. Financed by Mr. Fullam's Business Staff, the yearbook took shape with Ray Medler as Editor and Jim Welsh as Assistant Editor. There were field tours aplenty, searching for realistic pictures of the Cadets, and long hours at Yearbook conventions, hunting for new ideas. After much dickering, rearranging and recorrecting, the 1948 Evening Parade was received late in May

This year saw the Corps expand its ranks to over fifty strong and increase its repertoire to thirty matches. They performed on Fifth Avenue at the Saint Patrick's Day, Army Day and May Day parades. The walls of Madison Square Garden echoed their tones during the hockey season. They also appeared at the football games, the Holy Name parade in Jersey and in Forest Hills on Armistice and Memorial Days. Father Morrisson, S.J., and Major Mierswa did the planning for the first term until Mr. Winkler, S.J., succeeded as moderator in February.

Under the supervision of Mr. Fullam, S.J., the Senior Debate Society undertook a complete agenda for the school year. John Birkmeyer, Robert Muller and Wallace Rooney were elected President, Vice President and Secretary.

During the year, debates were staged with Cardinal Hayes La Salle, Brooklyn Prep, Georgetown Prep, and 'Blessed Sacrament. In the American Legion oratorical contest, Robert Beusse won second place in the preliminary contest. At the Mirror Youth Forum, Xavier was outstanding with John Birkmeyer and Joseph Reilly as panel chairmen. The year closed with John Birkmeyer participating in the Journal American oratorical contest.

SEPTEMBER meant action for the Sophomore Debating Society, directed by Mr. Devlin, S.J. Named the "Alfred E. Smith Debating Society", this group planned a full year of intramural and formal debates. Forensic tussles were arranged with St. Augustine's, St. Barnabas, LaSalle, Blessed Sacrament and Hayes. The number of talented speakers that has been developed this year speaks highly of the Society and its moderator. The season's record was 23 victories to 16 defeats.

Die Deutsche Gesellschaft—all smiles

We should call this group the German Cultural Society—a most amazing club where students study for sheer enjoyment. Besides the regular weekly meetings where guest lecturers appeared, the German Club had a wide social program. At a mid-year convention, the Club's basketball team took on all comers—successfully too—and then climaxed the day with a typical German dinner. The year's final session was followed by a bonfire outing to Bear Mountain.

XAVIER'S most recent addition to the wide range of activities is the Art Club. Directed by Mr. Flood, S.J., the club met on Fridays and Saturdays to hear lecture, experiment and create. Frequent art exhibits speak well of the skill of Xavier's artists. Their greatest contribution to the school is the varied array of pen and ink drawings which dapple the pages of the 1948 Evening Parade.

A VERY select society at Xavier is the Chemistry Club, directed by Mr. Orth, S.J. In the course of the year the members visited the spacious lab of Brooklyn Technical School and the Atomic Science Exhibit sponsored by the Brookhaven National Laboratory. Again affiliated with Science Clubs of America this year's curriculum comprised experimentation in some of the more complicated reactions of inorganic chemistry on the theoretical side, the club delved into the study of nuclear energy and its effects on the world of today and tomorrow. Two of the members carried out individual projects of chemical research and took the examination in conjunction with Westinghouse's National Science Talent Search.

Xavier 18 Seton Hall 0

In typical duck-hunting weather, the Xavierites finally found themselves by trouncing a weak Seton Hall, 18 to 0. The hard charging Carter bulldozed through the Prepsters' line, littering the field with injured players. Most of the 225 yards lost in penalties, scores came with ease. Bob Slevin's 'bullet' running all over the slippery field, and Tweedy's buckling of the Seton Hall line set up most of the scores. Cliff Kelly and Barney Mulligan snatched timely passes before the bench was emptied.

Xavier 14 St. Cecilia 33

With the middle of the Cadet line folding before a battering St. Cecilia attack, we were more sunk to a crushing defeat. A late coming attack brought futile results. The stands were briefly startled by the second half performance of Nappy, Masini and Bolger, and the long spirals of Don McLoughlin.

Xavier 6 Cardinal Hayes 26

Venturing forth to a windswept Randall's Island Stadium, the Xavier squad was chilled 26 to 6. Futile lunges at an elusive pigskin netted nothing until the last quarter when Scoppellito scored the leather from three Hayes' defenders and scampered to the ten yard line. Jack Gordon opened a hole for Lehr to net our only tally.

Xavier 13 Fairfield 14

A blocked kick in the first five minutes spelled defeat in cold Connecticut. Fink, McLoughlin and Henderson were masterful, and Mastrol and Lehr accounted for our two scores.

Xavier 13 Fordham Prep 8

This was the one we wanted to win—a thriller from start to finish. After Tom Lehr streaked through the entire Rose Hill eleven for the first score, Bill Bolger calmly split the uprights for the extra point. In the final seconds, Bill Brady thrilled the stands by a masterful tumble over the double stripe to garner victory and the Mike Dunn trophy.

Look what Jimmie Jennings won!

COACHED by Mr. Anthony Karpowicz the 1947-48 Xavier basketball squad compiled fifteen wins against six losses, the best record at Sixteenth Street since the great Kaftan-Byrne machine pounded the hardwood.

The smooth passing and hustling drive of Lehr, O'Brien, Fink and McGlone, the set shot of Jennings and the pivot work of Bolger, Bohen and high-scorer Greg Hammil rounded out a club which placed high in the city. Such dependable substitutes as Rasmussen, Buoncore, Nappy, McCord, Cushner and Whelan added reasons for this winning quintet.

RIFLE

THE Rifle Team's record speaks for itself. By far the most successful team at Xavier, the Rifle Team has garnered national honors for the school. Coached by Sgt. Kwasnowski, and directed by Mr. Brown, S.J., a former member himself, the team has lost only two of sixteen matches. The clusters of medals on the team's tunics reveal the numerous tournament victories. At the close of the season Don Riley was named Long Island Junior Champion and Vin Vella came off with the City College high individual award.

HIGHLIGHT of the indoor season was the two mile relay team starring Kapp, Vachris, Brandstortner and Crouther. The team in a thrilling race in the National Finals finished second to Lasalle even though their performance bettered the record by eight seconds. Xavier again turned in a creditable job in the Spellman Mile as Bob Vachris placed third. Mr. Waters coach and Mr. Orth, S.J., have been very successful in their efforts to turn out a fine Xavier track team.

Their first victory

THE pre-season practices at East River Park, Red Hook Stadium, and the Sixth Avenue Field assured the J. V. Football squad of a full and successful season. Mr. McCusker's squad of Freshmen and Sophomores battled with Fordham Prep, Poly Prep, Cardinal Hayes, All Hallows, St. Peter's, Brooklyn Prep and Incarnation, besides two tussles with the varsity. The season was climaxed with a sensational victory over Poly Prep and by the annual Minor X football dinner.

Victories were scored over St. Joseph's, St. John's, and Dubois.

CHEERLEADERS

DURING the athletic events of the year, the spirited clamors of the Cheerleaders brought a new will to win into the hearts of the players. Through the groans and cheers of every battle the Cheerleaders and their moderator, Mr. Curran, S.J., never lost heart. This spirit has long since become a traditional part of Xavier. Needless to say they are to be accredited and associated with every athletic clash ever to take place at Sixteenth Street.

At the Winter Review and the Thanksgiving Day Football game, the outstanding excellence of the X-Squad was demonstrated as the military perfectionists of Xavier went through their paces without a false step. The Spring Review was executed equally well, and the X-Squad finished its season once again as "The pacemakers of the Xavier Regiment."

THE newest organization at Xavier is the product of the diligent work of Captain Alfieri. The marching band practices every day, making their first appearance on St. Patrick's Day. The drum major is Bill Bolger who is backed by Ed Lenard, Art Felley and Jack Ralston. They also marched in the Army Day Parade and the moderator may well be proud of the talented boys in the group.
